The main campus of UFRJ, and the largest (5,238,337,87m²). Artificial island created in the 50's by the covering of 8 smaller islands with earth; Also known as Campus do Fundão; Comprises most of the faculties and academic units of the university.
PRAIA VERMELHA

It is the university’s oldest campus. It was originally a hospital for the mentally ill and in 1949 the space was donated to the UFRJ. It is placed near one of the postcards of Rio de Janeiro, the Sugarloaf, in one of the most beautiful sites of the city. Several units of the Center of Juridical and Economic Sciences (CCJE) and of the Center of Philosophy and Human Sciences (CFSH) are placed in this campus.

CAMPUS MACAÉ

A city considered the center of the offshore oil industry in Brazil. Several facilities of Petrobras are established there.
The advanced complex of Xerém was established in 2008 through a joint initiative by the UFRJ, INMETRO (the Brazilian National Institute of Metrology, Normalization and Industrial Quality), Duque de Caxias City Hall, and FUNDEC (Foundation for Technological Development and Social Policies).
