

Multiplier Event

January 31st, 2022

2-4 pm

The EPIDI team is pleased to invite you to our multiplier event, which will take place online on January 31st, 2022.

EPIDI is an Erasmus+ Project, emanating from the EPICUR Alliance. Its primary aim is to improve the support of students in their distance or hybrid internships.

The current pandemic has radically changed the way we work and study. In 2020, many students had to switch from a traditional internship to a distance learning internship. This unexpected and burdensome situation left a majority of students distraught and alone in the absence of established support mechanisms and adequate follow-ups.

That is why, in April 2021, three partners of the EPICUR Alliance – Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, Karlsruhe Institute of Technology and the University of Strasbourg – joined forces to carry out the EPIDI project.

Our objectives? To create a Best Practice Guide and e-learning modules for four target groups:

- Students
- Employers
- Teachers
- University administrative staff.

We are pleased to announce today that this first deliverable, our Best Practice Guide, is almost complete.

Therefore, we cordially invite you to our multiplier event to discuss the content of our guide, and to make final adjustments with the help of your valuable advice and feedback.

Please kindly register until the 17th of January at the latest via email to nadine.berends@kit.edu.

Following your registration, you will receive a detailed agenda and link to the event.

Best regards,

Nadine Berends
